Upcoming Adjunct Faculty Events

Faculty Workshop: Charting Your Course!

Wednesday, January 18, 2012, 9 a.m. – 12 p.m. in KIPJ A and B

Carole Huston, Associate Dean, College of Arts and Sciences and Marcelle Darby, Adjunct Professor of Biology will assist faculty with planning and implementing (with a mind toward assessing!) a learning-centered course. Please bring your syllabus as time will be spent: 1) Discussing essentials of syllabus construction; 2) Practicing writing student learning outcomes; 3) Mapping course learning outcomes to planned curricular activities, exams, and assignments; and 4) Clarifying the integration of curriculum with program outcomes and core competencies. Breakfast will be served. Please RSVP by January 13th.

Faculty Workshop: Co-educating for Change: Getting Started with Community Service-Learning

Tuesday January 24th or Wednesday, January 25th

9 a.m. – 2 p.m. (Exact Date and Location TBD)

The day will begin with coffee and conversation with USD faculty who will share their experiences, strategies, and philosophies for engaging with community partners for service-learning. We will then embark on a trip to Chicano Park, located in Barrio Logan, to explore an example of a community site with rich historical context which provides mechanisms for deep and transforming education. Lunch in the community with our community partners will be included. Please RSVP by January 20th.

Adjunct Faculty Reception: Re-imagining the Core

Friday, April 13, 2012, 4:30-6 p.m. in Degheri 120

The faculty at USD are currently engaged in discussions about revising the core curriculum. However, adjunct faculty are often not a part of the process. Because a large percentage of faculty who teach core classes are non-tenure track, adjunct or part time instructors, it is imperative that these faculty become part of the discussion. Come listen to some of the faculty involved in the process of reexamining the core at our adjunct faculty Spring 2012 event to learn more about what is happening. Your experience and suggestions are welcomed.

Please register by contacting Johnny Bobé II at the CEE at (619) 260-7402 or by email at cee@sandiego.edu or online at www.sandiego.edu/cee. Thank you!
